Athene Launches Preferred Stock Offering

PEMBROKE, BERMUDA — June 5, 2019 — Athene Holding Ltd. (“Athene”) (NYSE: ATH), a leading provider of retirement savings products, is launching an opportunistic offering of preference shares (to be represented by depositary shares).

Athene has previously stated its desire to support a growing number of capital deployment opportunities, including continuing profitable organic growth, acting as a solutions provider within the restructuring life insurance industry, maintaining capital for opportunistic asset purchases, and repurchasing common stock at compelling levels of risk-reward, all while preserving balance sheet strength. To help accomplish these objectives, Athene is launching a preferred stock offering and has filed a preliminary prospectus. The completion of the preferred stock offering will be contingent upon market conditions and terms received.

The Company intends to use the proceeds of a preferred stock offering to support a portion of its funding commitment to Athene Co-Invest Reinsurance Affiliate (“ACRA”) — its previously announced strategic capital solution. Athene’s Board of Directors has specifically authorized a contingent increase in the Company’s share repurchase capacity to offset any near-term earnings dilution associated with a preferred stock issuance. This authorization increase for additional repurchases of common stock is estimated to be approximately 15% of the offering proceeds, with the final amount determined upon closing.

“Launching a preferred stock offering is consistent with our flexible approach toward managing shareholder capital and opportunistically funding our operations with the most efficient capital available to us,” stated Jim Belardi, CEO of Athene. “We believe a preferred stock security will diversify our capital structure, receive favorable equity treatment from rating agencies, and preserve substantially all of our untapped debt capacity.”

The contingent share repurchase capacity authorized to offset any near-term earnings dilution resulting from a preferred stock issuance would be incremental to Athene’s existing authorization. Since December 2018, Athene’s Board of Directors has authorized approximately $500 million of share repurchase capacity; to date, the Company has opportunistically acquired 7.8 million shares of common stock for a total of $325 million at an average price of $41.49 per share, representing an adjusted price-to-book value multiple of
This activity includes repurchasing $178 million or 4.2 million shares of its common stock in the open market over the past month. Currently, there is $172 million of share repurchase capacity remaining on the Company’s existing authorization.

“We are pleased with our share repurchase execution to date and believe it remains a highly accretive capital deployment opportunity to drive shareholder value,” said Mr. Belardi. “We have a strong track record of delivering mid-to-high teens returns on equity, resulting in 17% compound annual growth in adjusted book value per share over the past 10 years. Today’s announcement reflects intermediate-term capital allocation considerations to help us continue to deliver significant long-term value creation for shareholders.”
